Right You Are Harry.

The Elizabethtown News says:—It is almost enough to make a christian swear to sit behind a woman with a big hat at a picture show.

Attend To This.

The price for this paper is one dollar per year in advance. Glance at the label on your paper and if you are in arrears, mail us a check RIGHT NOW.

Inconvenience Remedied.

In response to Postmaster West's request made some time since, the postoffice department has ordered all mail originating in Louisville and destined for Lancaster placed on the train which is due here at 11 o'clock A. M. This includes the daily papers, and does away with the inconvenience which we have been experiencing of late of having the mail miss connection at Rowland and having to wait a couple of hours or perhaps longer before receiving our morning papers.

Judge Puryear Announces.

Judge Emmet Puryear of Danville announces himself as a candidate for the democratic nomination of Commonwealth's Attorney in this district. Judge Puryear has been practicing law in Danville for the past fifteen years and during that time has served Boyle county as County Judge and is at present Danville's City Attorney.

He is a good democrat and a lawyer of good appearance and has been connected with Hon. Robt. Harding in the practice of law for several years. He has many friends in Garrard county who will be glad to know that he is to make the race, and who know him to be a good lawyer and an affable gentleman.

Send In Your Names Boys.

Superintendent Jennie Higgins tells us that only about ten boys have sent in their names and signified their desire to enter the Garrard county Corn Club, and that these were confined mostly to one locality. She desires if possible at least five times this number, and that they be distributed promiscuously throughout the county. For a farmer boy this contest will prove both instructive and remunerative, besides being provided with seed corn free of charge, each one will be furnished with free literature from time to time, which will be both interesting and instructive, and everyone who succeeds in producing a certain number of bushels to the acre, will be given a nice diploma, signed by the Governor, the Secretary of State, Commissioner of Agriculture, and other state officers, and which will be a nice thing to frame and preserve, and something with which you can point to with pride in the years to come. Come on boys, send in your name, this is an effort to help you and one to which you should be willing to lend your assistance.

Morgan.

The Courier-Journal gives the following account of Mrs. Wiley L. Morgan, which occurred in Knoxville Tenn. The deceased was well known to many Garrard county people. She was a niece of Cap't. Thos. Elkin as has many other relatives in and around Lancaster.

"Telegrams received yesterday by relatives of Mrs. Wiley L. Morgan, a former Louisville woman, conveyed news of her death at her home at Knoxville. She was found dead in bed by her husband when he returned home the supper last evening. She had evidently expired a short time before his arrival, of heart disease, it is thought.

Mrs. Morgan was the wife of the managing editor of the Knoxville Sentinel and the Chattanooga News. She was prominent in society and in women's clubs in Knoxville.

Before her marriage she was Miss Elizabeth Elkin, of Louisville, her father, Garrett Elkin, and her mother, who was Miss Nannie Embry before marriage, being old residents of this city. Mr. Elkin was a well-known livestock dealer.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Morgan is survived by a number of relatives, among them being a sister, Mrs. B. S. Mattingly, and a brother, Zack Elkin, both of Louisville. Mrs. Morgan was 36 years of age.

Walling-Patton

Mr. Oscar Patton of this county and Miss Olive Walling were married at the home of the bride in Campbellsville on Wednesday, Rev. Homer Carpenter of Shelbyville, an intimate friend of the groom officiating. The happy couple left immediately for a southern tour, after which they will be at home five miles from Richmond on the Lexington pike, which is already prepared by Mr. Patton for the reception of his bride. Miss Walling the bride is the daughter of Mayor Walling of Campbellsville, and is well known in this county, having been a frequent visitor of the Misses Merritt of the Bryansville locality, where Mr. Patton first met her. She is a young woman of charming personality and many accomplishments, and was a popular member of Campbellsville society. The groom is the eldest son of Mr. B. F. Patton, and until recently was one of the leading young farmers of lower Garrard, but recently has removed to Madison, where he will make his home. The wedding was a quiet affair, only a few friends of the contracting parties being present. Mr. B. F. Patton and Miss Bessie Patton, father and sister of the groom were present.

Robinson.

Mr. R. M. Robinson died at his home at Marcellus in this county at four o'clock Wednesday morning. Mr. Robinson had been a long sufferer from a complication of diseases, and had sought relief at many places, but lately having been to Martinsville Ind. in the hope that the treatment would be beneficial to him. The deceased was 56 years of age and was the second son of the late Col. B. F. Robinson. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Sallie Gentry, two children, Mr. B. Frank Robinson of Richmond Ky. and Mrs. C. C. Cable of Marcellus, three brothers Messrs T. B. and C. A. Robinson of Lancaster and George Robinson of Danville and three sisters, Mrs. Wm. Baughman and Mesdames David and Henry Dunn of Danville. Mr. Robinson had long been a member of the Christian church at Pleasant Grove, near his home, and the funeral was conducted by his pastor, Rev. C. E. Powell, assisted by Rev. F. M. Tindler, at the late residence at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, after which his remains were interred in the Lancaster cemetery.

R. M., or Mote Robinson as he was familiarly known was one of the best known farmers of Garrard county, quiet, unobtrusive, he gave his attention to his farm and family, but a host of friends and neighbors will attest to his sterling qualities as a splendid christian gentleman. He had lived his entire life in the Pleasant Grove section of the county, and the people of this section, who knew and loved him so well, will miss him sadly, as will the people of Garrard and adjoining counties among whom he had a wide acquaintance.

Mr. Luther Gibbs on Wednesday in the county court qualified as administrator of the estate of his brother, the late Mr. Alex. Gibbs. Judge Lewis L. Walker was retained by the administrator to assist in winding up the estate. Messrs B. L. Kelly, O. T. Layton and C. S. Ballew were appointed appraisers. The blooded stock belonging to the estate will be taken to Lexington and placed in a sale now in progress. Among the assets of the estate are about $10,000 worth of export cattle.

Phil Price Recovers From Operation.

The following clipping from the Richmond Climax tells of the recovery from an operation of Cap't. Phil C. Price is well known and popular in Lancaster, having for a long while "run Old Henry," the local mixed train. Conductor Phil Price, one of the most popular officials on the L. & N., who underwent an operation in this city several weeks ago in an effort to secure relief from the effect of an injury he sustained by being shot in the head several years ago, was here last week. Mr. Price has fully recovered from the operation, which will be gratifying news to his host of friends in Madison and adjoining counties.—Climax.

Lancaster Has Splendid Water.

A sample of the water taken from the local water plant has been sent to Lexington recently for analysis at the Experimental station of State College. A report was received this week and the water is pronounced to be excellent. The city water is now being used by a number of the people of the city for drinking and all domestic purposes, it is without odor or bad taste and is equally as good and safe for all drinking purposes as any cistern water in town. The verdict of the Experimental station as to the purity of the water should set at rest the uneasiness which has existed in the minds of some of our people for fear of the existence of disease germs in the lake, and no one should fear to use the water for drinking purposes.

The fact that the water has been pronounced pure and free from disease germs does not mean that we are not to have the extension of the water works already under contemplation by the city council. Lancaster's crying need is for quantity as well as quality, sufficient quantity that we may use it for all purposes at any and all times of the year without fear of there becoming a scarcity, quantity sufficient that we may be able to assure any industry that may contemplate locating with us that there will be no scarcity of water for manufacturing purposes, quantity sufficient to allow the L. & N. railroad, should they so desire to erect a tank here, and all this we hope and expect to have before the dawning of another new year.

Mr. Alexander C. Robinson's Will Admitted To Probate.

The last will and testament of the late Alexander C. Robinson, which was offered for probate on the 23d and the probating thereof postponed until the 29th, because of the absence from the state of two of the subscribing witnesses, was admitted to probate on last Monday. The instrument in chief was dated September 18th, 1905, but there were several codicils of minor importance of later date. Messrs J. Y. Robinson and J. B. Paxton were named as executors of the instrument, and Messrs J. Y. and J. F. Robinsons as trustees for the fund devised for the benefit of their mother, and it was the request of Mr. Robinson that no bond be required of these gentlemen.

After several minor bequests, including gifts to servants and certain personal belongings to his children, Mr. Robinson willed his household effects to his wife; he owned 75 shares of bank stock as follows: 40 shares in the Merchants & Mechanics Bank of Columbus Ga., 20 shares in the Fourth National Bank of Columbus Ga. and 15 shares in the National Bank of Lancaster; he devised that the dividends accruing from this stock should go to his wife during her lifetime, and at her death the stock should be divided among his children. He also devised that the sum of $5,000, be placed in the hands of the trustees, the income from which should go to his wife, and in a codicil he devised that in the event his wife did not deem this sufficient, that an additional $5,000, should be set aside in the same manner the proceeds to go to her during her life and at her death the principal should be divided among his children. His residence on Richmond street in Lancaster he gave to his wife during her lifetime and at her death to her children.

In another codicil he devised the sum of $200, to the Christian Church Orphan Home at Louisville Ky. The remainder of his estate after the payment of all legacies, his debts and the costs of administration, he left to his children, share and share alike.

A codicil added on August 18, 1908 serves to portray the beautiful christian character of the man, and shows that he was at peace with and a well wisher to everyone, and is as follows:—"Now in the last clause of this codicil I desire to commend my dear children and grand children and all friends, to Him 'who doeth all things well', and trust that they in all their troubles and sorrows in this life, go to Him for that comfort and consolation which can only come from Him, is my sincere and humble prayer."

Retrospective.

With the current issue we finish the second cycle of service to the people of Garrard county as editor of the Record. During the two years past we have tried earnestly to live up to the motto carried at our mast head: "Pure religion, untarnished democracy and good government." During the last year we have added to our editorial staff, and we promised you that we would strive to give you a better Record; how well we have fulfilled that promise, we will allow you to judge, we at least have the satisfaction of knowing that we have done our best, and that no man can do better. We have endeavored to comment without fear or favor, and have edited our paper with malice toward none and charity for all. To the kind people of the county, than whom there are none better on this earth we desire to extend our sincere thanks for their kindly support and the many words of encouragement along a journey which is not always spread with roses.

As for the future, our policy shall remain the same, the personnel of the office will remain the same, the only change will be in our efforts, which will be redoubled, we shall strive to give you better service than ever before, and we solicit your further patronage and friendship.

In the proposed readjustment of the taxing system in vogue at present in Kentucky the Committee on Revenue and Taxation have cast about them in every possible direction in search of some plausible method of increasing the state revenue without increasing the burden of taxation already resting upon the shoulders of the taxpayers of the state. That the source of revenue must be widened everyone must admit, the march of progress demands it, the plans for a "greater Kentucky" demand it and the exigencies of the period demand it; there has been appropriations, necessary appropriations, for commendable purposes, which demand an increase in the state revenue in order to meet them; many thousands of dollars have been appropriated for the new capital, which is just; appropriations for better schools, for the training of and for better teachers, for normal schools, to establish and maintain a State University, all of which is eminently just and proper; for the various charitable institutions of the state, for a childrens home, a confederate home, all of which are necessary and just and are but in keeping and necessary to keep Kentucky up to the standard of other states; for various officers and boards looking to the health and improvement of conditions throughout the state, and for many other equally as important steps which tend to the improvement of the state and the welfare of the people; and to meet these emergencies is a problem which seriously confronts not only the committee in charge of the readjustment scheme, but the entire populace; to acquire the revenue is an easy matter, but to acquire it without increasing the burden of taxation is where the rub comes. Senator L. W. Arnett of Covington, who is chairman of the committee, has introduced a bill in the Senate, which to our mind, will in a measure solve the problem, and too without imposing a burden of any moment upon anyone, and will not increase the taxes of the people at large by one penny. His scheme is to tax the output of coal in the state to the extent of one cent per ton, one twenty fifth of a cent per bushel, seemingly a very small thing of itself, but when you take into consideration the fact that there is about 15,000,000 tons of coal mined in Kentucky annually, you will really see what an enormous amount of revenue this method is calculated to bring into the state coffers, and too, it is reasonable to suppose that within five years this tonnage is reasonably expected to more than double itself. Of this vast amount of coal mined, only about one fourth of it is consumed within the state, the other three fourths being shipped out of the state. Of this vast amount of coal taken from the bosom of the state she receives practically nothing, at least a mere pittance; the operator or speculator who leases these coal lands, the mining rights only mind you, for oftentimes next to nothing, waxes rich on his investment, while the poor devil who owns the land from which the coal is mined pays the taxes, it is true the land is assessed at from only $3. to $10. per acre, and thus neither the state nor the owner of the land derives but very little revenue from it.

The majority of the coal lands operated are leased or owned by non-residents of the state, they pay no taxes, wax fat up on the hidden treasure of the state, and take their wealth elsewhere to spend it, not even paying to the state what should be a just quota of the taxes upon the treasure mined therein. We believe that as a matter of state pride, of patriotism, it might be termed, that the citizens of Kentucky who are interested in mining coal will cheerfully pay this trifling of just taxation into the state, and that others will be forced to do so. Senator Arnett's bill provides that on or before the tenth day of January of each year, each person, firm or corporation engaged in the mining of coal in the state shall file with the Auditor a sworn statement of the number of tons of coal mined during the previous year and shall pay therefor a license tax of one cent per ton, and fixing a heavy penalty for failure or refusal to pay such tax or make such report. Hon. John W. Holland of Shelby county introduced the measure in the House.

There is such a law upon the statute books of the state of Pennsylvania, one of the greatest coal producing states in the Union, and if our information is correct, the real estate of Pennsylvania is not taxed one cent for state purposes. Aside from the opposition of the interests, which may be expected to oppose the bill, the principal argument against it will be that it will cause an increase in the price of coal. This however, cannot be of much consequence, for a tax of the twenty fifth part of a cent per bushel cannot materially increase the price of that commodity, and the ultimate relief, which will come to us in the way of removing some extent our burden of taxation by creating another source of revenue, will more than recompense us for the increase in the cost of fuel, should such a thing result, which we exceedingly doubt. Upon the surface, the bill appears to us to be a good one, and to afford an avenue of escape from a very embarrassing dilemma, namely the means of meeting the increasing liabilities of the state, liabilities which increase of a necessity, without increasing the burden of taxation on the people of the state. We are opposed to the working of a hardship upon industries who seek to enter the state, we believe that this has been done to an extent in the past, but we do believe that a tax upon coal mined in the state is but justice, the mining of coal in Kentucky is not an industry which we are compelled to go out after and to foster after we have established, upon the other hand, capital is constantly seeking for investment in Kentucky coal lands, because they believe such an investment will prove remunerative, and that they should pay a just amount of taxation into the treasury of the state in return for their profitable investment is but equitable. The farmer pays a tax upon his acres and his herds, the merchant upon his business, every citizen upon his chattels of every kind, then why not the coal baron, the one who is reaping the greatest benefit of any of those who have investments in the state. We believe that the measure will meet with the support it deserves.

Senator Gore (dem., Okla.), gave his views of the break between Governor Wilson and Colonel Harvey, as follows:

"This whole Wilson-Harvey-Watter-son incident is a bubble, not a billow. It seems that the head and heart of the Governor's offending is that he told the truth.

"No honest man can accept an office with a lien upon his conscience or his conduct.

"To decline tendered aid and alliance is a most difficult and delicate task.

"To do so in the face of danger is an act of moral and political heroism of which few men are capable.

"The critics of Governor Wilson should tell the public frankly whether their candidates would assume such an obligation as the governor declined, and if so, whether their candidates would disregard or would discharge such obligations.

"I would rather see Governor Wilson defeated with his heart an open book, than to see him triumph with a skeleton in his political closet, which has been concealed from the eyes of the public."

"The convention will have to draft me. I will not lift a hand nor speak a word to get the nomination. I have served my country for seven years. I can live and die on that record. I know the responsibilities, the trials and the fierce fighting involved in a four years Presidency, and I am content. The convention will have to seek me out, and not a delegate will I solicit."

In his private office at the offices of the Outlook Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt, made answer in the above words to Gov. Glascock of West Virginia who visited him with a demand from several sources that he become a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Presidency.

Our old friend Col. W. P. Walton is in charge as Secretary, with office in the Equitable building in Louisville, of the work of the National Citizens League, an organization which has for its object the promotion of a sound banking system. The organization already has branches in thirty four states, and are working to establish in every state in the Union. The object sought is a very laudable one, and its purpose when attained will redound to the benefit of the entire country. They surely could not have picked upon a more energetic or capable man to look after their interests in Kentucky than Col. Walton.

Every one knew defeat would be the end of Governor Woodrow Wilson's presidential aspiration with Colonel's Watterson and Harvey as promoters of his cause. Now, the causes assigned for their desertion of the former friend is sufficient to make Governor Wilson many friends and supporters for the Democratic nomination. A little more of such criticism and the measly reasons assigned is likely to make the Aspiring Governor president. The break between the two shows the Governor to be good Presidential timber.

Reynolds.

Mrs. Joe Gray Reynolds died in Chicago, January 28th, 1912. She was born and lived in this county, she was the last surviving member of the Honorable William Grays family, a sister of the late Mrs. E. Brown of Lancaster, Ky.

Allen Jones Captured.

Allen Jones charged with the killing of Harrison Preston in October last was brought here Sunday and lodged in jail deputy sheriff Ben Robinson having gone to Covington Va. after him. Jones was captured it is said through the efforts of a Cincinnati colored detective who has been on his trail since his escape, he located him once in Pittsburg Pa. and again in Washington D. C., but on both occasions he succeeded in making his escape before the papers could be obtained for his arrest. He was finally located at Covington Va. working for some kind of an iron industry. He waived extradition.

In October last the negroes were having some kind of a gathering at White Oak, a negro settlement below Bryantsville, Preston who lived nearby happened to be there, and it is said that without the least provocation he was shot, the wound resulting in his death at the Lancaster hospital a few days afterward. Jones is said to have fired the shot. The shooting occurred on Saturday night and Jones came, to Lancaster and boarded an excursion on the following Sunday morning. Efforts were made to locate him on the train, but without avail Sheriff C. A. Robinson went to Cincinnati and made every effort to locate him, but at the time was unsuccessful, however, he succeeded in placing the man on his trail who finally accomplished his capture. Gov. McCreary offered a reward of $150. for Jones arrest which Mr. Robinson will share with the detective who was instrumental in his capture. Jones will remain in jail until the next term of circuit court.

Because of the unusually cold weather which we have already experienced, Maj. Jas. A. Burnside, who enjoys quite a reputation as a trapper, has set his traps well back in the caverns along "Cook's Branch", which are known to be the haunts of the four footed weather prognosticator, and hopes to catch all the ground hogs in that locality, thereby avoiding for his own immediate locality the dire results which undoubtedly follow that sagacious animal seeing his shadow on Feb. 2d.

Wednesday February 7th.

A play decidedly out of the ordinary is AN EVERYDAY GIRL, which comes to the Lancaster Opera House, Feb. 7th. This offering is from the pen of Mr. Thomas Hopkins. The success of the play has been extraordinary. It follows life very closely, it is clean and wholesome, and its schemes and incidents are diverting and full of good humor. The press in the surrounding cities have been unanimous in their praise of this play, which is a powerful story on the question of whether women pay all the penalty for sexual sin and men go blameless, or whether the same law should cover both sexes. AN EVERYDAY GIRL handles the question in an entirely different manner from that in which it has ever been seen before, and it is enabled to be as powerful for good, as a most powerful lesson to girls and women on the bitterness of sin. This truly is a play that every husband, wife, lover and sweetheart should see and ponder over. AN EVERYDAY GIRL is presented by a well balanced capable company, with Miss Binette in the role of Rose Norton, about whom the story of the play is centered. The management has provided a gorgeous scenic production, depicting the rugged beauty of the country of Virginia and New York in which locality the scenes of the play are laid.

Sons Of Garrard Command Honor And Respect Wherever They May Roam.

The Record is in receipt of a letter from an old Garrard county man enclosing a clipping from the Washington (Ind.) Daily Democrat. The clipping is over a column in length and lack of space prevents us from reproducing it. The article tells of a "raid" made upon Mr. James W. Ramsey by a large delegation of his brothers of the I. O. O. F. fraternity, the occasion being Mr. Ramsey's seventy second birthday, and the anniversary of his forty seventh year as a member of the order. The article indicates that the affair was a very enjoyable one, but that Mr. Ramsey, true son of Garrard that he is, was equal to the occasion, and carried off the surprise affair in as high handed manner as if he had spent weeks in preparing for it. Mr. Ramsey left Lancaster over forty years ago. He seems to have attained prominence in his Hoosier home, which is evinced by the fact that he is a member of the city council of his home town, Washington, which is the county seat of Daviess county in southern Indiana and is a pretentious city of more than seventy five hundred inhabitants.

Mr. Ramsey was born a few miles from Lancaster on the Crab Orchard pike on the farm occupied at present by Mr. David Stephens. He was a member of the 19th Ky. Infantry, Col. Landram's regiment, during the civil war. In his letter he mentions among his old friends and acquaintances: "Gabe Greenleaf, J. W. Pumphrey, Lige Harris, Tom Wherritt, Tom Elkin the Burnside boys, the Kinnaird boys Dr. Duncan's boys and others."

HAS ORGANIZED IN THIRTY-FOUR STATES.

National Citizens' League To Promote A Sound Banking System.

The National Citizens League, organized for the promotion of a sound banking system, now has organizations in thirty-four States, with arrangements to complete the list. The league is strictly non-partisan, representing a joint and spontaneous movement of business men and others, independent of party affiliations, who are uniting in a popular movement for a reform of the banking system of the United States. Its aim to awaken the public to a realization that our credit system depended as it is on unrelated banks, is subject to most serious and unnecessary dangers, and that this absence of organized and united responsibility in our banks affects all classes, is a menace to legitimate business operations and a drag upon national development.

The Kentucky branch of the league is headed by Mr. John M. Atherton, of Louisville, who will be aided in the work by committeemen from each Congressional district, as follows:

First District—Judge W. M. Reed, Paducah.
Second District—Judge S. W. Hager, Owensboro.
Third District—W. L. Porter, Glasgow.
Fourth District—John L. Helm, Elizabethtown.
Fifth District—William Heyburn Louisville.
Sixth District—D. B. Wallace, Walton.
Seventh District—Rodes B. Thomas Georgetown.
Eighth District—George W. Welsh, Danville.

In Memoriam.

In the death of Genie Clark which occurred on the morning of January 20th, 1912, the family lost a loving son and grandson. The Sunday school a great worker and his play mates a loyal comrade. The Grim Reaper is no respecter of person, come how or when he will; he leaves behind desolation and woe: the heart aches for its loved and lost, the eye looks for the form that comes no more, the ear listens in vain for the wonted step, the very soul breaks out in longing for the dear presence forever shut in from mortal view. The cry of agony wonders "Why oh, why have we stricken like this," shall we not think of our loved one as in the better land, where we too one day will join him in the summer land of songs, kind soul fare well at the coming of the king may we who mourn the valiantly ford the turbid waters and clasp thy hands on Edeus sunny shore. A Friend.

The Rayo Lamp

It Never Flickers

The long winter evenings give a woman a splendid chance for sewing or embroidery; but her eyes suffer from the strain unless she has a good light.

The Rayo is the best lamp made.

It gives a strong, diffused light that is remarkably easy to the eyes. There is no glare to it; no flicker. It lights up a whole room. The Rayo is an economical lamp, too. You get the most possible light-value for the oil burned; and the Rayo itself is a low-priced lamp. Yet it is a handsome lamp—an ornament to any room in the house. The Rayo Lamp is easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and rewick. Made of solid brass, nickel-plated; also in numerous other styles and finishes.

Ask your dealer to show you his line of Rayo lamps; or write for descriptive circular to any agency of the
